JOIN THE FUN!

MAKE A BOOK!

HELP MARINMOCA!

We are doing it again. The THIRD annual show of book arts will be held at MarinMOCA, located at Hamilton Field in Novato. It will run as a Silent Auction for five weeks: April 21 through May 26, 2012. It will conclude with a rousing Live Auction Closing Party. While all proceeds go to support the museum's programs and exhibitions, it is a nice opportunity to have your work shown at MarinMOCA and to join with others in increasing public awareness and appreciation for book arts.

Last year's show was a great success, with 150 artists donating a wonderfully diverse and captivating collection of "book art objects." The show attracts artists from all over the Bay Area and includes not only "altered books" but any type of artwork that gives new life to old books by using them in new, imaginative ways (jewelry, sculpture, collage, etc.) or takes inspiration from the book form by creating a handmade artist book. (See Prospectus online at www.marinmoca.org for more details)

Donna Seager of the Seager Gray Gallery in San Rafael will again give a talk before the opening reception (April 21), and will select first, second, and third place winners, plus honorable mentions.
